[The following lines were written a year ago, in the month of August, during the very general prevalence of the jaundice in our city, and are republished at the request of several readers. EDS. SENTINEL.]

To A Lady with the Jaundice.

I.

Now I know you will say, what impertinent fellow
Can this be, that is writing to you,
Yet so often I'm told, that when people are yellow,
They are also alarmingly blue,
That 'I take pen in hand,' (oh! astounding assertion,
So original, out of the track
Of poetical thought,) to create a diversion,
And thus thwart the grand August attack.

II

As I think on my theme, how my spiritus rises,
Lucky subject I wist 'tis for me;
There are sonnets past measure to eyelids and eyes s
To dark tresses that float "fancy free,
To the arm, to the hand, and perchance too the mitten,
Some poor swain has been given by you,
But a sonnet or song, there has never been written
To a lady all yellow and blue!

III.

Say no more of the rich purple glories of even,
Of the erst golden streakings of dawn,
Of the sweetness and calm of a star-lighted heaven,
Of the grass on the dew spangled lawn;
These are themes that may do for the hand of a master,
(Not a tyro but scarcely begun')
For the plain run of poems, but I must be faster
To get up with an uncommon run!

IV.

First, the question I ask, why this hideous fashion
Is so fearfully prevalent here?
That young ladies and older have such a great passion
To be taking the jaundice and—beer!
There are colors of flame, (perhaps this is the reason)
There are colors called *cwyr—it is true—
Since to all things—except hotel soup—there's a season,
There must also be yellow and blue.

V.

Or perhaps you have been so intensely a rebel,
That from sutlers† and such, you won't get
Those few articles, for which you "care not a pebble,"
Yet so requisite to a toilette;
Or perhaps, with the jaundice, you feel neither sick nor
Well enough to be out "in the cold,"
But consider it best to be bound, as by Ticknor,
In edition of "Blue and Gold!"

VI.

Or perhaps in some grotto, where you were all solus,
Just refreshed by a wet morning's walk,
You had bathed your fair form in some fabled Pactolus,
And wert golden!—or—minus your chalk.
Should you judge these few lines to be silly or verdant,
Then before the whole world 'twill be seen,
You're not only both yellow and blue, take my word on't,
But you're also undoubtedly green!

VII.

Should you think these suggestions but prove me a teazer,
Do remember the fact once for all,
That in one respect, any how, I am like Caesar,
Both our weapons were brandished in gall,—
I can't dwell, so farewell. Grant a maidenly blessing,—
Do not ask me, I can not remain,—
Do not urge me "bile on"—ah! indeed you are pressing,
I will perish from "bile on the brain."

ROGER GRAHAME.

*"Cwyr," (leather,) pronounced queer, was at the time quite a fashionable color; so also was "flame" color, and both somewhat the color of one with juandice. "Cwyr," pronounced in the way mentioned, is also the Saxon word for beer, taken from its color, and a famous drink in this disease.

†Almost all the trading at the time was with sutlers and new comers, who had very varied and yet small assortments.

PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fourteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolinia, which abound to plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and, there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or coal oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Venango county, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal if not superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the journals showing that there is no good reason why there should not be as large quantities of oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of that State, about midway from its eastern border, eighteen miles from the Cumberland mountains.—Christian (Richmond) Observer.

OIL WELLS IN WEST VIRGINIA.—The Parkersburg Times gives an astonishing statement of the yield of wells in the region thereabout, consisting of Wood, Wirt, Ritchie and other counties, viz: Burning Springs, 2,500 barrels per day; White Oak, 1,500; Lick Run, 300; Horse Neck, 150; and of the several wells on Hughes river, 6,000 barrels per day. The quality is said to be remarkably fine. The Times considers the oil of West Virginia the best yet discovered.

THE OIL EXCITEMENT IN ILLINOIS.—The oil excitement in Clark county is still high. Some eight or ten derricks are up and at work. The deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 160 feet. Much time and money will be spent this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to test their faith by a free expenditure in developing the lands. The first company who bored on the land of Hon. T. B. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the auger which was lost last fall. The Eastern Illinois Company will begin work in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good.—Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. That is on the same line with, and about 80 miles from, the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar.

In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporators in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the basis of operations here offered gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or $5 to $20 and even $50, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open.

By order of the Directors.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.,

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, F. F. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR,
JONATHAN WORTH,
OF RANDOLPH.

Exchange of State Bonds.

Our readers are aware that the late Convention, with the view of reducing the debt of the State, directed the Public Treasurer to effect an exchange of the stock owned by the State in the several Rail Roads, on the best terms, for the redemption of any out standing Bonds of the State. Mr. Battle, our very efficient Public Treasurer, has issued his proposals, which will be closed early in November next.

There are three strong reasons in favor of this scheme:

1. It proposes the only plan, feasible at present, for the redemption of the State debt. This is a most desirable object, and one in which the honor and credit of the State are deeply involved.

2. It offers an inducement to men of capital and energy to invest their State bonds in an enterprise which will pay, if well managed. And it takes out of the hands of the State the control and management of the railroads, and places them directly in the hands of interested individuals, who can manage them more cheaply and efficiently than the State can. Every one knows that individuals manage merely business operations with greater facility and cheapness than public or State agents.

3. It relieves the Executive of the State of the amount of patronage and political influence which the appointment of Railroad officers gives, and puts an end to the scramble for place, which too often engenders improper feeling and gives room to partizan contests. Railroads, to be profitable in this State, must be managed by men of the highest ability and enterprise that can be found. Politics should have nothing to do with them. It is sure to interfere with their success and efficiency to a greater or less extent.

For these three reasons, we have been in favor of the scheme of the Convention, and most heartily desired eminent success to the Public Treasurer, in effecting the exchange. The objection which some of our people urge against it, that it will place our Railroads in the hands of Northern capitalists, to be controlled by them to the injury of our people, is unsound and untenable. The objection is neither wise in policy, nor is it generous to those who are disposed to invest their capital in the South. It is unwise, because all experience proves that one Northern business man, in foresight, energy and frugality, is generally equal to half a dozen Southern men. Were they to invest in our Railroads, their object would be to make money. To do this, they would construct feeders, run in quicker time and at cheaper rates, and, to make business for the roads, would introduce into our midst the best mechanical skill, and the highest improvements in agriculture, mining, &c. The idea that they would injure the roads by high charges, &c., is preposterous. It is ungenerous. Whatever may be the feelings of our people towards those men who have been or are still our enemies, it is the height of folly, and it is grossly ungenerous, to feel hostile to those who are willing to invest their funds in the South, to promote the general welfare of our people and the developement of the resources of the Southern States. If we could do so, we would now influence Northern capitalists to invest 25 or 50,000,000 of dollars in North Carolina in the next twelve months. Without their aid our works of internal improvement must languish or be suspended for a time, and our agricultural, mining and manufacturing resources must remain undeveloped.

Perhaps, however, as public journalists, it is our duty to point out to the holders of North Carolina State Bonds the impediments or drawbacks which the charters of several of the Railroads present to the exchange of Bonds. It is of course the duty of all holders of Bonds to inform themselves fully of the condition of the Roads and the character of their charters.—Where there is no serious impediment, we believe that holders of Bonds will do well to exchange them for Railroad stock, but there may be impediments in the charters which might make the exchange seriously to the disadvantage of holders. For instance, read carefully the following section, the 41st., in the charter of the North Carolina Railroad. The holders of the bonds of the North Carolina Road not only have the faith and credit of the State pledged to their payment, but the property and dividends of the Road are also pledged. The section says:

SEC. 41. Be it further enacted, That as security for the redemption of said certificates of debt, the public faith of the State of North Carolina is hereby pledged to the holders thereof, and in addition thereto all the stock held by the State in the North Carolina Railroad Company," hereby created, shall be, and the same is hereby, pledged for that purpose; and any dividends of profit which may, from time to time, be declared on the stock held by the State as aforesaid, shall be applied to the payment of the interest accruing on said certificates; but until such dividends of profit may be declared, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer, and he is hereby authorized and directed, to pay all such interest, as the same may accrue, out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

There seems to be a general expectation that a sweeping decapitation of officeholders, not backed by the delegates to the Philadelphia Convention, will be made this week. The cotton ring of the Treasury Department is threatened by the report that Assistant Secretary Chandler is to be removed. J. D. Wilson, Third Auditor, is also on the popular slate among the condemned. The fright is universal, and it is difficult to find any Washington office-holder who does not declare himself with the President.

D. R. Goodloe, Esq.

As a matter of justice to this gentleman, we publish that portion of his card, (heretofore published in full in the Standard,) which relates to his personal vindication from the criticisms which we saw proper, some time since, to submit, concerning his course in connection with the proposed Radical Convention in September. We regret, exceedingly, that Mr. Goodloe, under all the circumstances, should have identified himself with this movement, and especially that he should have arrogated to himself the right to speak, apparently, at least, as a representative man of North Carolina. Personally he is a worthy gentleman, and as such we esteem him, but that consideration cannot affect our animadversions upon his public or official conduct.

Mr. Goodloe is both unfair and disingenuous,—more so than we had expected of him,—in seeking to make the impression (while disclaiming such a purpose) that we threatened him with popular vengeance. Nothing was further from our thoughts. We simply meant to say that our people could and would have no "consideration" for one who advocated measures so subversive of all their interests, and who, while serving in their midst as an administrative officer, had connected himself with a movement that was designed to oppress and humiliate them.

We are well aware of Mr. Goodloe's strong and honest opposition to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. We deprecated that repeal ourselves, at the time. We believe that it added fresh fuel to the flame of Northern anti-slavery fanaticism. But we cannot see that that fact justified Mr. Goodloe, a Southern man, in identifying himself with a faction that was glad of an opportunity of waging a more bitter warfare against his section. By helping on an agitation, which he should rather have used his influence to allay, he, and those who co-operated with him, are very much responsible for the "rebellion," certainly.

Mr. Goodloe begs the question when he essays to prove that the proposed Convention, to the call for which he signs his name as of North Carolina, is not "revolutionary." It is essentially so, and it is hardly necessary to combat the point. A movement which contemplates the continued exclusion of ten loyal States from the Constitutional right of representation, and which is to be conducted on the basis of the Howard amendment,—involving several fundamental violations of the great charter of our liberties and working an attainder and a proscription utterly foreign to the genius of Republican liberty,—is radically revolutionary. It seeks to accomplish, literally, what the armed revolt of the South was ineffectual to consummate, a destruction of Union.

In the face of the President's life-long views upon the subject of negro suffrage, Mr. Goodloe's speculations must pass for what they are worth. The President, we are well aware, in his letter to Judge Sharkey, advised that Mississippi should, if possible, in order to allay opposition at the North, sanction negro suffrage with a property and educational qualification, yet his own opinions are known to be decidedly in favor of the colonization of that unfortunate race. In a number of his late public utterances, as well, if we mistake not, as in some of his veto messages, he has emphatically intimated his conviction of their immaturity for the elective franchise. In a word, his views, as enunciated in the Senate on the 12th. of December, 1859, are his views to this day. In a debate on Mr. Mason's resolution of enquiry into the origin and objects of the John Brown raid, Mr. Johnson, in allusion to an admission by Mr. Trumbull, (who is now so intolerant and fanatical in his determination to force negro suffrage on the South,) that "the two races could not live happily and pleasantly together, or enjoy equal rights, without one domineering over the other," said:

"I thank the Senator for the admission he has made, and I wish to press the matter a little farther. Suppose the four million of slaves in the slave States were all emancipated, and were to fill up one of our Territories and apply for admission here, it seems to me the Senator's answer would apply to them as well as the question I have put. He says the difference begins with the very origin of man. If the Deity himself, according to the Senator's own admission, has made a difference between the races, how can they have been created with equal rights and privileges? The difference began with the Deity. The Senator in his last explanation has conceded the whole ground; and all his clamor and clap-trap about liberty, and men being created equal, falls to the ground, and the construction which should be put on the Declaration of Independence is clear and unobscured."

The results of the recent National Union Convention, we take it, have convinced even Mr. Goodloe that, in the matter of negro suffrage as well as the test-oath, neither the President or his friends sought to have either incorporated, however indirectly, in its Declaration of Principles. Mr. Goodloe holds to the right of Congress to force the former (though in a qualified form) upon the South, and insists upon the letter and spirit of the latter. The Convention, whose action the President has endorsed as a second Declaration of Independence, declares the question of franchise to belong exclusively to the States themselves, and insists upon the immediate representation of the South, subject only to the right of each House to judge of the Constitutional qualifications of its members.—In view of such an antagonism, while we would not seek to deprive Mr. Goodloe of any pecuniary emolument or personal success, under ordinary circumstances, we really think that it is his duty to retire from the office of Marshal for the District of North Carolina.

The Herald correspondent at Boston discusses the effect of the Philadelphia Convention on the radicals at the "Hub," and intimates among other things that, as an offset to the disastrous effect of that movement on the radical party, General Butler intends to propose the annexation of Africa in the convention which meets in September at Philadelphia.

The raising of tobacco in New Jersey is attracting the attention of the leading agriculturists of the State.

E. J. Hale, Esq.

It afforded us a melancholy pleasure, the other day, to shake the hand of our esteemed friend, E. J. Hale, Esq., of Fayetteville.—Pleasure, because of our high estimate of his friendship and his worth; sadness, because he informed us of his purpose to leave his beloved native State.

The disasters of the war, and the subsequent developments in regard to the mail facilities and business prospects of Fayetteville, forced him to relinquish his purpose to revive the Observer, one of the ablest and most influential journals of the State. He has determined to establish himself, with his excellent sons, in the Book and publishing business in New York city,—a business which their former experience eminently qualify them for. Deeply interested in the educational development of the South, they will give special attention to getting up the best school books and works of general interest.

Mr. Hale and his sons are a valuable acquisition to any community, and their removal from our midst must be felt to be a great loss. The senior Mr. Hale has established in this State the highest reputation as a gentleman of exalted moral worth. He is the impersonation of honor and personal integrity, and his business qualifications and reliability will inspire entire confidence in those with whom he has intercourse.

His house will readily command the book-trade from this State, and the public will soon be informed of his locality and the character of his business.

The President's Proclamation.

We publish in another column the material portion of the proclamation of the President, announcing the establishment of complete peace, legal and actual, throughout the limits of the Republic. The parts omitted are but the recapitulation of the several declarations of Congress and Executive proclamations heretofore made, and which were embraced in the former Proclamation, pronouncing the "insurrection" at an end in all the States except Texas.

According to the terms of this proclamation, the writ of habeas corpus is unquestionably fully restored and martial law withdrawn.

President Johnson has done his duty nobly, and it only remains for the people, North and South, to do theirs.

THE PHILADELPHIA ADDRESS.—The Editor of the Richmond Examiner, who was in attendance upon the Philadelphia Convention, says, of his personal knowledge, that Mr. Raymond is not the author of the address, as is popularly supposed. We are glad to find that the Editor himself is far more moderate and conservative in his views than his locum tenens. In giving an account, by the way, of what he saw and heard at the North, he says:

"The Northern feeling is not well understood at the South. We confess that our recent observations have greatly changed our own ideas about the matter. Radicalism is strong, to be sure, but there is a larger and more respectable conservatism, that is supported by Democrats, Unionists and the moderates of all parties. We met men even from Boston, who could outdo us in their execration of the Radicals, and who expressed themselves earnestly in favor of re-union on a perfect restoration of old rights. They announced their readiness to co-operate with any organization that should fight the Black Republicans. We found gentlemen from Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, as well as Iron Massachusetts, who as cordially destest Thad. Stevens and his party as we do. All that is needed now, is for us to foster this sentiment and to reinforce it with all our might. Shoulder to shoulder with Northern conservatism, let us first fight for position, and when that is gained all other desirable things will be added unto us. Let us get a controlling voice in the Government, and then we have but to ask, and we shall receive."

Let us be Patient!

The Petersburg Index pays a glowing tribute to the conciliatory and magnanimous policy of President Johnson, and advises the people to be patient and hopeful as to the accomplishment of their wishes and hopes in many particulars as yet not realized. It well says:

"And if there still remains something to be done, if there is still a proclamation unwritten or a shackle unbroken, let us rest assured that, from the large plain of the President's comprehensive view, there is some reason justifying, in his opinion, the delay, and let us give him credit for an honest purpose while we await the future.

He is now clear of even the suspicion of alliance with Jacobinism. He is the leader of the Conservative men of the Union, call them by what name you may, and is abreast with the foremost of them all in the recognition of the privileges of the people and the supremacy of law. Let us be patient."

KENTUCKY ELECTION.—The majority for Duvall, Democrat, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals in Kentucky, will not quite reach 40,000. It has been reduced considerably by the returns from the mountain counties. The Democratic majority in the old Ashland district is 7,632. This used to be old banner whig district in Henry Clay times.

The Supreme Court, in session at Monroe, Louisiana, has decided in a case before it that the purchaser of a wagon in Confederate times at $600 must now pay the money in currency. Letter from D. R. Goodloe, Esq.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8th. 1866.

To the Editors of the Sentinel:

GENTLEMEN:—My attention has been called to the leading article in your journal of the 14th. ultimo, in which you criticise my conduct very freely, and indulge in remarks well calculated, if not intended, to render my position in the State, as a citizen and a public officer, uncomfortable, if not untenable. I am unwilling to believe that you mean to menace me with the popular indignation, or vengeance, and yet what else am I to infer from the following sentence? You say, "If Mr. Goodloe contemplates resuming his former residence in this State, he may assure himself, in his self-assumed capacity as another 'representative man,' of a profound and distinguished consideration at the hands of our people." Whatever your purpose may have been, I cannot but feel that this language, proceeding from a journal of wide circulation, and representing the Governor of the State, will arouse the popular passions against me; and I ask, in the name of common justice, to be allowed space in which to remove, as far as I may, the impression you have created that I am an enemy of the State and people.

You ask, "how dare Mr. Goodloe set himself up as an exponent of even radical sentiment in North Carolina, a State from which he expatriated himself fifteen years ago, and in which he has not resided since?" This challenge is very easily answered. In the first place, I have not set myself up as the representative of any body. I have only signed a circular addressed to the people of the South, in which they are called upon to represent themselves. I put my name down as of North Carolina because that is now my home. I made it so last September, when I accepted the office of Marshal; and I at the same time renounced, in purpose and in fact, my citizenship in the district of Columbia. It was my right to elect to be a citizen again of my native State, and I have so elected. My daring, therefore, has not been so great as you imagined.

You say that for many years prior to the war I "was identified with the anti-slavery agitators of New England," and that I was "therein more responsible for the 'rebellion' about which he discourses so flippantly in his address, than any man that we know in the State." Now, it so happens that there is no man in or out of the State, who knows better than one of the Editors of the Sentinel, that I was sternly and uncompromisingly opposed to the measure which, on all hands, is now admitted to have been the chief cause of the war. I allude, of course, to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. That fatal measure was the Pandora's box which contained in it the Kansas controversy, the Lecompton fraud, the John Brown raid, and the demon of civil war. The junior editor of the Sentinel knows that it was my abhorrence of that scheme of President-making, which compelled me to abandon the Whig party, as well as a lucrative engagement with the Raleigh Register, and to unite in the formation of the Republican party. With my profound convictions of the wickedness of extending the evils of slavery into the new territories, I could not have done otherwise without dishonor. I cherished, and still cherish, a warm regard for my Southern friends, but they left me no alternative. For "where should I go" except into the ranks of those, who were endeavoring to defeat the scheme?

In this connection, I wish to say that I did not derive my anti-slavery sentiments and opinions from Northern abolitionists. So far as those opinions were not spontaneous in my own mind, they were imbibed from reading the debate which took place in the Virgina Legislature in 1832, upon the question of abolishing slavery. It was characterized by great eloquence and power, and make an impression upon my youthful mind, which time has not effaced. I embraced the generous idea of emancipation with my whole heart, as it was expounded by McDowell, Faulkner, Thos. J. Randolph, Bolling, Chandler, Moore of Rockbridge, Marshall, Broadnax, and others. Subsequently I read the writings of Mr. Jefferson, which are instinct with the spirit of liberty; so that, before I was of age, and before I had heard that there was a Northern abolitionist in existence, my mind was thoroughly imbued with the sentiment. I may remark, also, that I heard no one at that day attempt to defend the abstract idea of slavery.—It was the boast of the emancipation orators in Virginia, that no man had risen in the Legislature to defend slavery. There were elaborate apologies and excuses, but no attempt at justification. I have compiled this entire debate, and hope one day to see it published. It will do more honor to Virginia than anything in her annals, since the revolutionary period.

I have always protested against and opposed the extension of slavery; and as a journalist have often had occasion to examine and criticise the arguments of its friends, intended to show that the institution is compatible with equity and Christianity; but I have never set myself up as a censor of individuals, nor have I maintained that all who held slaves were as unjust as I conceive the system to be. I have followed the examples of Washington, Jefferson, Madison and a host of other noble Virginians, with Hugh Williamson, James Iredell and William Gaston of North Carolina, in declaring my opinion that slavery was the greatest moral and political evil that afflicted our country. Like them, too, I have always addressed myself to the white people; and never by written or spoken word have I encouraged the negroes to revolt, or to disobedience. Since slavery was abolished, I believe that I have labored as earnestly, and written as much, with a view to the cultivation of a kindly spirit between the whites and blacks, as any man in the country. I have repeatedly endeavored, through the press, to convince the people of the South, that they will commit a fatal error if they fail to enter heartily into the work of educating and elevating the negroes. If they neglect or refuse to take the great work in hand, it will be managed by Northern people, and the effect can hardly fail to be more or less of alienation between the races.

You say, "but perhaps the worst feature in Mr. Goodloe's connection with this revolutionary movement, consists in the fact that he is a recent Executive appointee to the office of Marshal of North Carolina, and that one of his first acts has been to raise his arm against the President, and array himself in the ranks of his bitter and vindictive enemies."

This brief text will afford matter for commentary under several heads. In the first place, the call for a Convention of Southern Unionists in Philadelphia in September is declared to be a "revolutionary movement." Now, if the Confederacy had been established, instead of being dissolved into nothingness, there would be some propriety in this language. Or, to say of the proposed August Convention of Southern men, who were lately in rebellion, and at war with the Union, that it is "a revolutionary movement," would seem not to convey a paradox; but to apply the epithet to those who stood by the flag through evil and and through good report, and who are still not ashamed to march under it, would seem to be a strange misuse of language.

The next point to be answered is the assumption, that having been appointed Marshal of North-Carolina by the President, I am bound as a liege-man, to support his policy, whatever that may be. I have a brief answer to make, to this arraignment. I deny the right of the President to dictate opinions for me. I owe allegiance to the Constitution and laws; not to the President. The citizen who surrenders his freedom of thought and speech to the appointing power, forfeits his citizenship, and becomes a minion, a tool, and is meaner than an involuntary slave.

Whether the President, as intimated by you, will regard the September Convention of Unionists as revolutionary; and whether he will sympathize with the Convention which is to meet in August, composed of men who fought four years to break up the Union, remains to be seen. If the newspapers which are regarded as "organs" can be relied upon as authority, he is sternly opposed to the admission of any man into the August Convention who cannot take the test-oath. An emphatic declaration against the admission of "rebels" has been made through the New York Times and the National Republican of this city, while a similar intimation has appeared recently in the Intelligencer. But this test-oath is not the only unpalatable food which the new friends of the President will have to swallow. We are assured by the National Republican that the President is still the friend of negro suffrage, as he was when he sent the telegram to Governor Sharkey, and when he put his name to the reported conversation with Major Stearns, of Boston. The Republican of the 24th ultimo arraigned Congress before the country for failing to grant negro suffrage in the District of Columbia to all who can read and write, to all who own property, and to all who have borne arms in the service of the United States against the rebellion. It charged that it was the object of Congress by this omission, to place the President in a false position before the country—his anxions desire being to give suffrage to the colored race, which the naughty Congress would not permit. I leave you and your readers to say whether the delegates to the August Convention will acquiesce in this policy of the President as cordially as I do. D. R. GOODLOE.

He has "Sailor marks" on his arms made with ink, especially on his right arm. Says he ran away from his parents when 12 years old. Claims to have had a home in Hyde County. All persons are requested to arrest this man, or to forward to this place any information which may lead to his arrest and conviction. Address A. BRASWELL, at this place.

THE SENTINEL.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 22, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—J. J. Litchford will have an attractive auction of furniture, &c., to-morrow (Thursday) morning, at 11 o'clock.

Messrs. W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co. are in receipt of a very large assortment of shoes. The varieties are unusually cheap and beautiful, as well as substantial. The stock is perhaps the largest ever brought to the city, and the firm intend doing a wholesale, as well as retail, business in that line.

See various announcements by Pulliam, Jones & Co.

WAKE COUNTY COURT.—This tribunal is in session the present week, with an immense amount of business and a crowded State docket on its hands. The whole week will probably be consumed by the latter.

On Monday, Wm. H. High, Esq. was elected Chairman of the Special Court, vice W. W. Holden, Esq., resigned.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION, of this City, are making arrangements to furnish a system of Lectures during the coming Fall and Winter to our public, on Literary and Religious topics and subjects of general interest. The course will consist of six lectures, to be delivered at convenient intervals by men of distinction and talent. The proceeds of these Lectures will be devoted to the poor of the City, from whom come, almost daily, the most urgent appeals for fuel, food, clothing, &c.

The price of admission is fixed at fifty cents per lecture. But as an inducement to the citizens to make advance payments, and as a guarantee to the Association in making the necessary arrangements, a season ticket for the whole course is offered for two dollars. Any one desiring the season ticket will please leave their names with either of the following gentlemen: Messrs. R. W. Best, Sec. of State's office; W. H. Spencer, Sentinel office; Perrin Busbee, Capitol, or Leo D. Heartt, Fayetteville St.

We are truly glad to chronicle this, and hope that our citizens will show their appreciation of these efforts to afford instruction and entertainment, by promptly giving their names to the Committee; especially as from so many sources, as we learn, the demands upon the treasury of the Association are most pressing.

PISCATORIAL.—Our thanks are hereby tendered to a generous Newbern friend tor a barrel of fish, fresh from "old ocean,"—embracing the choicest varieties of the finny tribe. May he never flounder in anything he undertakes in this life! Spots, pig-fish, mullets, croakers, trout, sheep-head! Ohe, jamsatis.

Pardons.

Pardons have been received at the Executive Office for the following persons and are ready for delivery:

R. W. Roddie, Nash Co.; Ann McNeeley, Rowan Co.; D. Roneberger, Cleaveland Co.; C. E. Allen, Halifax Co.; J. B. Addington, Wilkes Co.

For the Sentinel.

Infamous Falsehoods.

To the Editors of the Sentinel:—A friend informed me last evening of the circulation of reports in this, city to the effect that officers of Sherman's old battery had visited me in connection with an article in the Progress of Monday; that I denied all knowledge of the authorship of the same, and displayed trepidation of spirit.

As an editorial courtesy, permit me to say, that the statement is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end. I have had no interview with any officer; I did know the authorship of the offensive article, and have made no retractions, for the simple reason that nothing has emanated from my pen concerning Sherman's, or any other battery.

Respectfully,
HENRY E. ORR.

COPPER ORE.—The Norfolk Day Book announces the arrival in that city of 150 barrels of copper ore brought down on the Seabourd Road, for through transportation North on the old Bay Line. This copper was shipped from Jamestown beyond Gerensboro', on the North Carolina Central Road, and was the product of the famous copper and gold regions of North Carolina, with which Jamestown is within range.—Besides the ore, there was a considerable number of barrels of dried fruit, which were also designed for northern shipment.

COTTON AND CORN.—The Charlotte Times says that our late estimate of the corn and cotton crops must be confined to the Eastern slope. It adds:

"From well informed correspondents and others, our information leads us to make a very different estimate in all the section around here, and extended both east and west along the South Carolina line.

"In the first place, there is not more than half as much land planted in cotton this year as there was in 1860. It has not been near so well worked—and finally, the season has not been anything like so favorable. In all the region above designated there will not be half as much cotton made as in 1860. In regard to the corn crop, we are in about the same condition. We will scarcely make a third of a crop. The fields in this region, off the water courses, are literally burnt up, and in large scopes of country not half enough will be made to bread the people, much less the stock. What our people are to do Heaven only knows."

The New York Herald calls the Convention to meet in Philadelphia on the 3d of September "The Mean White Convention."

NEWS BY THE MAILS.

Mass Ratification Meeting to be held in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The delegates from this district to the late Philadelphia Convention, and others, had a meeting to night, and decided to hold an immense mass ratification meeting on Saturday next in front of the City Hall. Committees were appointed to make the necessary arrangements, and the adjoining counties of Maryland will be invited to participate.

AND YET ANOTHER RADICAL TO BE RETIRED.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:

"I can state, upon equally as good authority and certainty, that Gen. Howard will soon be superseded as superintendent of the Freedmen's Bureau. Several military officers of good record, who, like Gen. Howard, have lost a limb in the service, and who are his equals, if not his superiors, in ability and intelligence, are named as his successor. Gen. Tillson, chief of the Bureau in Georgia, is most favorably considered, and will likely get the position."

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Boston Commercial says: "We understand that the committee appointed by the Faneuil Hall Convention contemplate to call a mass ratification meeting to be held in Faneuil Hall on or about the 28th. of August, at which it is expected Senator Doolittle, Hon. Montgomery Blair, and ex-Governor Parsons, of Alabama, will be the prominent speakers."

Majority for Rejection— 1,375

This embraces the returns from all but eleven counties of the State. The majority for rejection will considerably exceed 1,000 votes.

It was stated a few days ago that Governor Fletcher, of Missouri, in a late interview with General Sherman, received a severe lecture. The latter told Fiether there must be no more civil war in Missouri, and the Federal power would interfere to prevent it. Fletcher promised to disband his armed negroes and radical militia. It now appears that Fletcher has published a proclamation to the people of the State, in which he states that the combined power of the State and National authorities will be used to entorce the statutes—that the enrollment of militia and the registration law be continued until set aside by the Supreme Court.

The Convention of Union Soldiers.---Patriotic Call.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21, P. M.

The call for a Convention of Soldiers and Sailors, who endorse the President's policy, to meet at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 17th. of September, has been issued. It is signed and endorsed by Major Generals Blair, Rousseau, Custer, McCook, Steedman, Meredith, Dix, Slocum, Sickles, and nearly 100 late general officers of the Federal army, and as many more subordinate officers. The address declares it to be the duty of each State, as well as their right, to participate in the government; that the signers of the call believe that the South is sincere in its declarations, and they are unwilling that its people should be denied representation in Congress by a plain violation of the Constitution. The address, in conclusion, says:

"When the restoration of the Union, and the preservation of our form of government, are in issue, however much we may regret to sever cherished associations and to co-operate with former enemies, we must prefer to act with those who have been wrong and are now right, rather than with those who were right and are now wrong."

Restoration of Civil Authority in the South

The following is the essential portion of the Proclamation of the President issued and published on Monday:

* * * * * * * *

And, whereas, subsequently to the said second day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, the insurrection in the State of Texas has been completely and everywhere suppressed and ended, and the authority of the United States has been successfully and completely established in the said State of Texas, and now remains therein unrestricted and undisputed, and such of the proper United States officers as have been duly commissioned within the limits of the said State are now in the undisturbed exercise of their official functions;

And whereas, the laws can now be sustained and enforced in the said State of Texas by the proper civil authority, State or Federal, and the people of the said State of Texas, like the people of other States before named, are well and loyally disposed, and have conformed or will conform in their legislation to the condition of affairs growing out of the amendment of the Constitution of the United States prohibiting slavery with the limits and jurisdiction of the United States;

And whereas, all reasons and conclusions set forth in regard to the several States therein specially named now apply equally and in all respects to the State of Texas, as well as to the other States which had been involved in insurrection;

And whereas adequate provision has been made by military orders to enforce the execution of the acts of Congress and the civil authorities, and secure obedience to the Constitution and laws of the United States within the State of Texas, if a resort to military force for such purpose should at any time become necessary;

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim and declare that the insurrection which heretofore existed in the State of Texas is at an end, and is to be henceforth so regarded in that State, as in the other States before named, in which the said insurrection was proclaimed to be at an end by the aforesaid proclamation of the second day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six.

And I do further proclaim that the said insurrection is at an end, and that peace, order and tranquility and civil authority now exist in and throughout the whole of the United States of America.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this twentieth day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-first. ANDREW JOHNSON.

[L. S.]

By the President:
WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

I was at last induced to try your Pills [THE SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS,] and from the first dose I found relief, and continued to mend until I was perfectly cured. I am now a well man."

A New Era In Medicine!

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITER,
L. S. Notary Public,
Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron On November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Georick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

$50 REWARD.

Stolen out of my Stables, at my residence in Northampton County, near Murfreesboro, N. C., on the night of the 31st. July last, a LIGHT BAY HORSE, rather raw boned, with both hind feet white and a knot or wen on the inside of the right hind leg, between the hock-joint and thigh.

Said Horse is supposed to have been stolen by a freedman, calling himself Albert Graham, and who said that he formerly belonged to Col. Graham, of Charlotte, N. C., and he may have taken the horse with him towards or to that place. He is a tall black negro, and wore, the day he left here, a long yellow linen duster.

I will pay the above reward of fifty dollars for the delivery of the horse to me, or information that will lead to his recovery.

AYER'S AGUE CURE,
FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

FEVER and Ague is not the only consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, in malarious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheapest and moreover is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other cure for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be over estimated. So sure is it to cure the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy. One Dealer complains that it is not a good medicine to sell, because one bottle cures a whole neighborhood.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

IMPORTANT SALE
IN WILSON NORTH CAROLINA

THE undersigned, having been duly appointed and empowered by the stockholders of

WILSON FEMALE SEMINARY,

to make sale of that VALUABLE PROPERTY, including all the buildings, together with about Twelve and a fourth Acres of Land, will offer the same at public auction, on the 14th. day of September next.

The Seminary is a large and commodious building, admirably arranged for school purposes, and contains a sufficient number of rooms to accommodate about TWO HUNDRED STUDENTS. The buildings are nearly new, having been erected in 1860, and are of every kind needed in a first class Seminary.

The Seminary is located on the Eastern boundary of the town of Wilson, below the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, and on an elevated spot of ground, well shaded, and having excellent wells of water. The proverbial healthiness of the town of Wilson, (it being the highest point on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad,) and the morality, intelligence and refinement of its citizens, make it one of the most desirable locations for a first class, Male or Female, Seminary in the State.

Of the 12¼ acres of land a sufficient quantity will be sold for school or other purposes, together with all the buildings formerly used by Seminary, and the balance of the land will be sold in lots, the size of which will be announced on the day of sale.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-fourth cash; on the balance a credit of six months will be given.

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE

WASHINGTON, D. C.,

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Spencerian Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading author of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. Unusual facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE," originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative value, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the College Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesale, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

BUCKEYE SULKY PLOW.

Being impressed with the necessity and importance of economy in farming, I am happy to have it in my power to furnish to farmers at manufacturers prices the BUCKEYE COTTON & CORN CULTIVATOR OR SULKEY PLOW.

It is certainly the greatest improvement of the age in agricultural implements.

It will, with two horses and one hand, cultivate as much land, and do it as well, as four horses and four hands in the usual way; and the plower can either walk or ride at pleasure; which enables old or decripped men, who cannot follow the common plow to execute the work as well as the most robust.

It is manufactured by R. Sinclair & Co., Baltimore, at $70, and is the cheapest plow in use, because of the great saving in hands, teams and provisions. For further information upon the subject, address,
